

Vignette: University Students 1

It is a sunny winter day in Innsbruck. The snow on top of the Patscherkofel mountain can be seen through the big windows on the side of the lecture room. There are eight students in the class. Bottles of water standing everywhere on the tables. Today they have to report and present on their group assignments. Formativ Leistungsbewertung. She is writing on the big white board. Squeaking sound of the black marker as she writes. She is nervous. She turns around. She signals to them and the other members of her group start to present their sections of the assignment. They intermingle their German and English. She sits to the side. Still nervous. She laughs along with everyone else when the lecturer says, "Luckily, this is not a language class". Her part of the presentation comes last. She speaks. Slightly more confident now. "Jetzt seid ihr dran!". The last slide on her presentation. Everyone laughs. "Now it's your turn".

Undergraduate University Students

Ort: Österreich (Innsbruck)

Autorin: Irma Eloff